EDITORIAL COMMENT.

SANER PROSPERITY THAN EVER BEFORE.

Prosperity, better and saner than the United States has ever known before, is foreseen for the next decade by Professor Henry C. Adams, for twenty years in charge of statistics and accounts for the interstate commerce commission. Professor Adams is recognized as one of the closest students of industrial and financial conditions in the service of the government. His intimate association with the railroads and their operation has given him a thorough insight into business conditions.

The commission's statistician has reached the conclusion that business in all lines will soon return to normal conditions, to be succeeded quickly by extraordinary prosperity in every department of industrial activity. Both capital and labor, in his opinion, are on the dawn of a new day.

Professor Adams declared that the holder of stocks is about "to come into his own." He regards the depression that followed the panic of last October as a blessing in disguise, in that it will insure economy by preventing the return of reckless confidence that was engendered by too much and too long continued good times.

"We are now almost through the business depression," he said. "The depression will end, and business will be good again; its volume, in the next cycle, will be greater than ever. But the lesson of this period of enforced economy will not be soon unlearned. There will be greater care and economy, with the result that the stockholder will have a larger share of prosperity."

It is acknowledged by Professor Adams that the closer connections established between business and transportation concerns will render future panics less disastrous than in the past. The strong will uphold the weak when crises arrive, he says. This will be an exhibition of economic wisdom, for it will tend to restore confidence. And when confidence walks abroad, says Professor Adams, panics take to cover.

BELIEVES BRYAN HAS NO CHANCE

CINCINNATI, Aug. 18.—The Cincinnati Enquirer published this morning a striking editorial comment on the national political situation, in which it makes clear its belief that Bryan has small chances of election to the presidency.

The Enquirer bases its argument upon the fact that the Republican party has coalesced its various factions of radicals and conservatives to present a solid front for the election of Taft. The editorial, in part, follows:

"News from the west, from all the country west of the Ohio river, gives ample evidence that in every state of that vast region the Republican party has divorced itself from the element in its ranks that opposed or failed to heartily approve of the policies of President Roosevelt.

"What has been termed radicalism is now the orthodox faith in each of the states of that section, and the national convention indorsement of that administration and its policies is rapidly being ratified by the party in country, district and state primaries.

"The anti-Roosevelt forces of the country today in no state of the union have any political standing or hold upon the voters of the party. "It is difficult for an onlooker to see how the Democrats can gain Republican votes in the west under these conditions. Their chance was there three months ago, but the Republican new alignment surely is now a barrier.

"Mr. Bryan can offer no greater inducements than are now offered upon the bargain counter of the Republican party in the west. Not an important radical Republican leader has bolted his party. Why should he under such favorable conditions to radical ideas? Not an important conservative Republican can leave, for all other doors are closed to him.

"It does not look so favorable to the Democrats in the west as it did one month ago, a fortnight ago or a week ago. The last few days the western Republicans seem to have cancelled such decree."

TAKES NICE FALL OUT OF BRYAN

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 18.—James W. Van Cleave, president of the national association of manufacturers, today issued an answer to a recent reply by William J. Bryan to an article by Van Cleave which pointed out why, according to Van Cleave, business men should vote against Bryan.

"The falsity of the insinuation in the Denver platform that labor unions are outlawed," Van Cleave says, "is shown by the fact that their members continue in their regular employment on every working day in the year in every town in the United States."

He then asks: "Does not Bryan, as a lawyer and a public man, know that his platform charges are false?"

He tells Bryan that the national association of manufacturers, like the courts, has always recognized the rights of the unions to get any terms from employers they could by amicable agreement, but has opposed intimidation and violence, which, he says, have sometimes been practiced by some of the unions.

"Does he personally favor the legalization of the boycott?" Van Cleave asks, and adds that the country is interested in getting a plain, direct answer.

Speaking of the guaranty fund which the Denver platform urges for the payment of depositors of insolvent banks, Van Cleave asks:

"Does not Bryan know that this vicious provision would penalize the honest and careful banker for the benefit of the banker who is dishonest and reckless?"

WOULDN'T TIP IT.

A Toronto man who visited England last summer appears to think that country the champion tip taker. He says:

"Well, I had tipped every man from the swell gent who seemed to own the house of commons down to the hireling who gummed the wrong labels on my luggage, and I went into the waiting room on the landing stage at Liverpool to wash my hands of everything English and what do you think stared me in the face when I had finished? A placard saying, 'Please tip the basin.' I'll be hanged if I did!"

GOLDFIELD WILL EXTEND WELCOME

TONOPAH MEN WILL RESPOND TO TOASTS AT BANQUET BOARD.

A partial list of those who will respond to toasts at the banquet on the evening of August 22, given by Goldfield Republicans, was compiled last evening. W. F. P. Fogg will be toastmaster, and remarks will be made by Hugh Brown and J. F. Dennis of Tonopah, General Turretin, chairman of the state central committee; H. B. Maxson, candidate for congress; B. F. Flanagan of the national Republican committee, and J. G. Thompson. There will be other speakers whose names will be announced this week. The dinner will be held at the Goldfield hotel, and promises to be a red letter event in matters political.

Plates for the banquet will be $3 each, and tickets will be on sale at Republican headquarters until Friday afternoon of this week. Visiting delegates will be admitted as guests to the banquet.

The meeting last evening of the various Republican committees was well attended, and considerable enthusiasm was shown in the coming convention. Indications are that the people of Goldfield will give the visitors the time of their lives.

DANIEL McNEIL FOR TREASURER

POPULAR MINER SHIES HIS CASTOR INTO THE POLITICAL RING.

Daniel H. McNeil in this morning's issue of the Bonanza announces that he is a candidate for the position of county treasurer, subject to the decision of the Nye county Democratic convention.

Mr. McNeil is well and favorably known over Nye county. He arrived here some five years ago from Colorado and immediately started to work on the Mary mine, which is now the Pittsburg Silver Peak. He next came to Tonopah, where he was employed at the Mizpah when he became secretary of the Tonopah Miners' union, which office he held for one term. He was deputy county clerk for several years after this and is now again employed at the Mizpah mine.

No man stands higher in the community than Dan McNeil. His friends are legion. His life has been above reproach and his integrity is of the highest degree. As an accountant he is rated as one of the best, and if the Democratic county convention should see fit to select Mr. McNeil it will have on its ticket a man who will be a vote getter.

Williams—I think Miss de Blank is very rude.

Jones—Why do you think that?

Williams—I met her out walking today and asked if I might see her home. She said yes, I could see it from the top of the high school building and that it wasn't necessary to go any farther.—Exchange.
